ABOUT HOUSE DESIGN ARCHITECTS

House Design Architects—formerly known as House and Dodge Design, founded by Mark T. House—is a San Diego-based architectural practice with over 25 years of experience in residential home design. Their portfolio consists of residential projects in both modern and traditional styles. Over the years they have developed a seven-step process for their work, from the very first step of introductions to the client moving into their dream home. Throughout this process, the firm provides seamless management and open collaboration with the teams involved to achieve its goal of delivering quality service with excellent design. House Design Architects believes architecture is not only functional, but also timeless, engaging, and unique. The firm’s work has graced the pages of Luxe and San Diego Premier.

FEATURED PROJECTS

House Design Architects created an award-winning beach house situated on a gentle slope near La Jolla. Highlights of the modern contemporary masterpiece include a walled forecourt, an open-plan living room that looks out to the ocean, and a 50-foot poured concrete wall that divides the whole house. Simple, bold lines, textural materials, and custom furniture create a warm, inviting, and casual interior design. The stunning 8,500-square-foot coastal home earned Best Residential Project at The International Design and Architecture Awards in London and a feature on California Homes. The firm also gives the same amount of detail to a La Jolla pool house. The house features an expansive great room with wood beams adding warmth and timelessness to the design. There are large french doors that open on both sides of the room leading into the outdoor seating areas. A beautiful stone fireplace anchors the room, accented by built-in cabinetry on either side. Two massive chandeliers grace the room with extra light, giving the space a worldly, sophisticated feel.
